What is IUGS?

The International Union of Geological Sciences (IUGS) is one of the largest and most active non-governmental scientific organizations in the world.

Founded in 1961, IUGS is a member of the International Council of Science.

IUGS promotes and encourages the study of geological problems, especially those of world-wide significance, and supports and facilitates international and interdisciplinary cooperation in the earth sciences.

Now, IUGS is one of Cooperating Organizations of CCOP.

What is IUGS-TGG?

The IUGS Task Group on Geohazards (TGG) was endorsed at the 70th IUGS EC meeting, Cape Town, South Africa during 31st August – 1st September, 2016. Since then, TGG organized international collaboration teams with a network system that promote exchange the information, hold various sessions, workshops and symposia in international conferences.

What is CCOP?

The Coordinating Committee for Geoscience Programmes in East and Southeast Asia (CCOP) is an intergovernmental organization whose mission is to facilitate and coordinate the implementation of applied geoscience programmes in East and Southeast Asia in order to contribute to economic development and the improvement of the quality of life in the region. To this end, CCOP promotes capacity building, technology transfer, exchange of information and institutional linkages for sustainable resource development, management of geo-information, geo-hazard mitigation and protection of the environment.

The 53rd CCOP Annual Session (AS) and 69th Steering Committee Meeting will be held during October 15 - 21, 2017 in Cebu City, Philippines. Taking the occasion of CCOP AS in Cebu, TGG and CCOP will hold a seminar to exchange information about geohazards in the world.
