Description of Danang City, Vietnam

Danang is the fifth largest city in Vietnam. Situated on the coast of Eastern Sea, at the opening of Han River, it is the biggest city in Central Vietnam. It is located within 100 km of several UNESCO World Heritage Sites, including the Imperial City of Hue, the Old Town of Hoi An, and the My Son ruins. The city was previously known as Cua Han during early Dai Viet settlement, and as Tourane (or Turon) during French colonial rule. Before 1997, the city was part of Quang Nam – Da Nang Province. On 1 January 1997, Danang was separated from Quangnam Province to become one of five independent (centrally controlled) municipalities in Vietnam. Danang is listed as a first class city, and has a higher urbanization ratio than any of Vietnam's other provinces or centrally governed cities.
